INDEPENDENT REMEDiation INSPECTION SERVICES

Our Independent Remediation Inspection services have been created to provide a level of scrutiny, on-site evidencing and record keeping, that can be relied upon by all parties.

In an ever changing landscape the requirement for the construction industry to step up and meet the challenges post-Grenfell, particularly when it comes to construction quality and ensuring fire safety and construction standards, has never been more important.

Although, the full impact of the Building Safety Bill has yet to manifest itself, the requirements and ethos behind the Bill, particularly in the context of the Golden Thread and the requirement to evidence quality and as-built construction, is right here, right now.

This is of particular importance in the context of the vast array of façade remediation projects that are either already on-site or are in the post-tender / pre-construction stages.

We have direct and extensive experience of running major façade remediation contracts and we are patently aware of the challenges of ensuring consistency of quality.

Our in-house façade and construction team provide the on-site scrutineering and evidencing for all of the cladding and façade remediation projects that we are managing. The same team is also available to provide third party independent inspection services for contracts where we are not directly or contractually engaged.

This service will be of interest to project funders, main contractors, freeholders, leaseholders and project managers.
